DETAILED ACTION

Response to Amendment

This action is in response to applicant's amendment filed on May 16th 2008. Claims 1, 3-6, 8, 9, 11-14, 16, 17, 19-22, and 24 are still pending. Claims 2, 7, 10, 18, 23, and 25-27 have been cancelled.

- In light of applicant's amendments and cancellation of claims in the instant, and copending application of 10/605,246 , Provisional rejections of offending claims under 35 USC § 101, as reflected in Office action of 12/17/2007, is hereby withdrawn.

Response to Arguments

Applicant's arguments with respect to claim 1, 9, 16, and 17 have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 1, 3-6, 8, 9, 11-14, 16, 17, 19-22, and 24 are rejected under U.S.C § 103(a) as being unpatentable over Cheng et al, European Patent Application EP1355496 (hereinafter "Cheng"), In view of M.A. Dovi, US Patent Application Publication No. 2002/0184451 (hereinafter "Dovi").

Regarding claim 1, Cheng discloses a method for using a network of set-top boxes (Fig. 1, 110), comprising:

connecting at least a first (114) and a second set-top box (116) in a network (110); making a first storage device included in said first set-top box available to said network (¶ [30], as computing device set-top box has storage, once networked the storage is available to the network);

making a second storage device included in said second set-top box available to said network (¶ [30], as computing device set-top box has storage, once networked the storage is available to the network);

Cheng does not explicitly disclose receiving a command in said first set-top box which requires at least one of said first and second storage devices; and using said at least one of said first and said second storage device in response to receiving.

However, Dovi, in an analogous art, substantially discloses:
receiving a command in said first set-top box which requires at least one of said first and second storage devices; and using said at least one of said first and said second storage device in response to receiving. (Fig. 1, ¶ [9]- [11])

Therefore, it would have been obvious, to one skilled in the art, at the time of invention, to modify the system of Cheng with Dovi's invention to share storage resources of networked set-top boxes (as Cheng disclosed for shared tuner resources).

Regarding claim 3, Cheng does not explicitly disclose wherein said first set-top box uses said first storage device if available, and attempts to use said second storage device if not available.

However, Dovi, in an analogous art, substantially discloses wherein said first set-top box uses said first storage device if available, and attempts to use said second storage device if not available. (§ [16]-[18])

Therefore, it would have been obvious, to one skilled in the art, at the time of invention, to modify the system of Cheng with Dovi's invention to share storage resources of networked set-top boxes for best utilization of available storage space on set-top boxes.

Regarding claim 4, Cheng does not explicitly disclose wherein said first set-top box determines whether said first storage device or said second storage device has more space available and uses the one of said first and second storage device that has more space available.

However, Dovi, in an analogous art, substantially discloses wherein said first set-top box determines whether said first storage device or said second storage device has more space available and uses the one of said first and second storage device that has more space available. (§ [16]-[18])

Therefore, it would have been obvious, to one skilled in the art, at the time of invention, to modify the system of Cheng with Dovi's invention to share storage resources of networked set-top boxes for best utilization of available storage space on set-top boxes.

Claims 5 and 6 are rejected by the same analysis as claim 1, as in the purview of the users of a system of set-top-boxes, the "show" is type of application (the same as in a computing environment).

Claim 8 is rejected by the same analysis as claims 1, 5, and 6.

Claims 9, and 11-14, a network of set-top boxes effectuating the method claims of 1, 3-6, and 8 are rejected by the same analysis.

Claims 16, the networking means of set-top boxes of claim 1 is rejected by the same analysis.

Claims 17, 19-22, and 24, computer code effectuating the method claims of 1, 3-6, and 8 are rejected by the same analysis.

Conclusion

Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
